Fortune-Telling For The Road

WEEK 1

Mon to Wed: QH (clarifying card 5D)

This means that the beginning of the week for the client is quite pleasant, being both red cards. QH could indicate that the client's focus and thoughts are around his family or his wife, he could be talking to them a lot or thinking about them. QH is connected to 5D, meaning that the thoughts and talk in the family could do with making money and spending some on their needs. QH could also indicate the client's wife, and her work being on his thoughts.

Wed to Fri: 10C (clarifying cards QS + 7S)

There are some clouds coming from mid-week. 10C indicates there is either too much work, too many obstacles to be overcome at work or there is an ending of a difficult project. QS as a clarifying card could indicate negative talks, the client feeling insecure or a woman being negative. This has something to do with some problem that comes up and requires a total change of strategy 7C.

Fri to Sun: 6S (clarifying cards 8H + 3D)

6S could indicate a short trip that the client is not very happy about or regrets having to go to wherever he is going. This trip has something to do with a celebration, a family gathering or a wedding, 8H. The 3D indicates that the regrets and not being happy about the trip, possibly have to do with thinking and talking about the money being spent.

WEEK 2

Mon to Wed: 2C (clarifying card 6D)

The week starts off with an agreement, a handshake 2C, with something to do with money matters going ahead, 6D.

Wed to Fri: AD (clarifying cards 5C + 5H)

The AD could indicate some contract being signed, some news received regarding money or a beginning of a new financial venture. The clarifying cards indicate that there is still work to be done by the client for everything to work out (5C), but that he feels happy to do this work and is happy about the way the situation is (5H).

Fri to Sun: KH (clarifying cards JD + 3C)

KH indicates that the client is likely to end the week on a happy note, being a red card and a heart. Also, it shows he is in a mode of doing works around his house and spending time with family. JD indicates that he is in a learning mode, doing something practical and physically applying the knowledge, possibly doing minor house repairs/maintenance (3C). JD could also indicate having someone young around the house, someone blond or ginger. 3C in this case could indicate learning or teaching about some minor manual work or crafts with this young person.

WEEK 3

Mon to Wed: KS (clarifying card 8D)

The week starts off on a fighting note. The client must stand up for himself and it is something to do with quite a lot of money, or in general his economic stability.

Wed to Fri: 4S (clarifying card 6H)

Mid-week, the client is feeling a lack of stability and it affects him and his family. It could mean that plans for a short family trip (6H) are “up in the air” due to this lack of stability. Or that he does not feel happy (4S) because he must be away from his family for a short period of time (6H).

Fri to Sun: 5S (clarifying card 3S)

The week unfortunately does not end on a good note as the client is feeling depressed or physically unwell (5S) and it possibly has something to do with an argument between 3 people or just something hurtful being said or learnt about.

NOTE: This week does seem to be not a happy one, but, although the cards are negative, they are minors, 4 + 5 Spades, apart from KS, at the beginning of the week. So, the problems will not be long lasting nor be very intense. Knowing that this week could be challenging, the client could use this information to be prepared and try to keep a positive attitude and maybe be more diplomatic than usual to avoid any unnecessary conflict over the weekend.

WEEK 4

Mon to Wed: 4H

Thankfully, after a bit of a rough last week, life is smiling again at our client. On Monday stability is restored to his heart and everything in his family life is harmonious and uneventful.

Wed to Fri: 2H (clarifying card 8C)

Here we have an agreement which makes the client happy, 2H. It has something to do with a long-standing effort and situation involving obstacles that seemed unmovable, 8C.

Fri to Sun: 10D (clarifying card 9H)

The week is ending on quite a good note. 10D and 9H, which explains it, indicate some sort of a wish coming true in relation to material success, it could be completing a project with success, some money coming in, a purchase of something that makes the client happy, etc.
